Spirit hunters is an award nominated first book in a new Middle grade/YA fantasy series. Readers have very much appreciated how it handles the fantasy genre, with a great deal of humor instead of the sometimes somber and pompous approaches. It was first published in Norway in 2012, and was nominated for Uprisen 2013 Best YA-book in Norway. It is also translated to Danish and published in Denmark. Four books in the series is so far published in Norway.

The Spirit hunters-books revolves around the missions of a girl from New York, a boy from rural Norway and a boy from Berlin. They are aged 13, and their destiny is to protect mankind from returning evil spirits. The spirit hunters' headquarters is placed inside a mountain on the outskirts of Torshavn, in the remote Pharoe Islands. In book one the spirit hunters must learn how to protect innocent people from restless spirits, who will not accept their own demise and move on to the Spirit World. Spirits with powers gained through centuries of desperation and isolation in the Middle World, which has driven all remains of humanity out of them and replaced it with mad rage and a boiling hatred against all things living. A hatred which is deadly when they break through to our world. But first, the spirit hunters must overcome their differences, and learn to stand together. For only as Iunctus Three (The Three United), can their powers be activated. And time is running out ...
